ASX Release

Energy One enters into a contract for the provision of its Energy Trading Solution to government-owned power generator.

In follow-up to Energy One's ASX release of 28 September 2009, the company today announced it had successfully negotiated the contract terms for the provision of its energy trading solution to a government-owned power generator.

Richard Brys, CEO of Energy One explained the signing of the contract further demonstrated the company's progression in positioning itself as a premier supplier of energy solutions in the Australian Market.

"We are delighted with the signing of this contract, having successfully won the bid against a number of key competitors," commented Richard Brys, "With a number of multi-year agreements now in place, with established industry players, Energy One is committed to the development and evolution of product suites for the needs of the energy industry now and into the future."
